A hummingbird's heart rate can reach 1,260 beats per minute while hovering to feed. At night, or when food is not readily available, they enter a hibernation-like state, slowing the heart rate to 50 to 150 bpm, reducing the need for food.

We create conditions that are exactly right.
You can count on change. As one of the nation's leading accounting firms, WeiserMazars provides the resources, experience and global expertise to help you adapt in a dynamically changing business landscape.
